

Director of Transfer and International Admission

Marian University seeks qualified candidates for the position of the Director of Transfer and International Admission. The Director reports to the Vice President for Enrollment Management and is responsible for managing the recruitment and admissions of both traditional transfer students and international students to Marian University. She or he serves on the leadership team for the Enrollment Management Division, and is responsible for the management of the full-time transfer admission staff as well as the international admission staff in the Office of Undergraduate Admission. This position is primarily responsible for exploring the means for increasing transfer student recruitment by establishing partnerships within the greater community, planning and executing visit days, and assisting with the planning of orientation. This involves extensive reliance on and use of data. This position also assists transfer students with their transfer into Marian University and functions as the liaison between the students and the registrar, financial aid, housing, the business office, student activities and orientation, athletics, and various academic schools within the university. Part of this responsibility includes preliminary evaluation of transfer credit. Marian is targeting transfer admission as an opportunity for growth and is looking for a dynamic leader that can innovate and facilitate new paths for transfer students to enroll. Success in this position will be determined by his or her ability to focus on time-to-degree and net college cost, the two primary concerns of prospective transfer students. The Director is also responsible for oversight of the international admission operation, including strategy development. The Director works closely with the international admission staff to ensure that the international admission needs of the university are met.
